RE: The Disability Foundation

Dear [REDACTED]

I am not in the habit for vouching for private entities, but the Disability Foundation has been a godsend for the disabled in Montgomery County. As a supporting organization of the Dayton Foundation, a well funded and well managed organization, all of the mechanisms to safe guard the trust funds are in place.

As probate judge, I recommend the Disability Foundation in the situation where special needs trusts are required. To date, this court has had no problems and continues to use the Foundation on a regular basis. In most special needs trusts, I have not found it necessary to have Court oversight. However, if I requested it, the information would be forthcoming.

As this is a highly specialized organization, they have developed the necessary precautions to allay most of the fears of investing parties. I have been pleased with their services and believe that you should have no hesitation in transferring your client's assets to The Disability Foundation.

Sincerely,

Alice O. McCollum

Dear [REDACTED]

It is my pleasure to provide you with a recommendation for The Disability Foundation I have worked with this organization, on a number of occasions, and have found their products to be sound and their service to be professional.

I had the opportunity to co-present with Kevin Hayde, the Executive Director, to Greene County families on the subject of estate planning. I found his presentation to be informative and his dedication to individuals with disabilities sincere.

I would not hesitate to recommend other families to discuss their special needs trust options with The Disability Foundation. If you should require any additional information, please fee free to contact me at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Hagler, Judge
